ONE STUDENT’S JOURNEY
Jessica Henderson participated in our Multimedia Journalism Academy as a student and returned as a teacher’s assistant the following year. She is now studying journalism at the University of Arizona.

“The Multimedia Journalism Academy was eye-opening because it solidified what I wanted to do as a career and gave me the skills to do so early on. Since then, I’ve reported for my school’s newspaper Daily Wildcat and news station UATV, and I’ve recently interned at KOLD News 13 in Tucson, Arizona. My career goals have shifted a bit to public relations, but my multimedia and journalism skills are highly applicable in this field as well.”

Since 2012, nearly 2,000 students have participated in Summer Academies for High School Students. cce.csus.edu.acads

SUMMER ACADEMIES FOR HIGH SCHOOL STUDENTS
Since 2012, teens have explored a host of careers with hands-on activities and field trips through Sacramento State’s Summer Academies, while learning alongside professors and industry professionals. It’s college-level learning and, for some students, their first visit to a college campus.

By 2019, Summer Academies grew to over 20 academies with career topics including STEM fields, education, entrepreneurship, public safety and the arts. In 2020, Summer Academies went virtual and students from more rural areas could now join us and learn remotely.

GET INVOLVED
Please join us to provide more youth in our community with the opportunity to participate. These week-long educational and inspirational courses expose high school students to career fields that will be in high demand in the next 8-10 years.

Your sponsorship (see reverse for options starting at $1,000) provides materials, technology, curriculum and scholarships, many of which benefit underserved youth who may be the first in their family to explore a college education.
